- i. Policy Data includes information on quotes, vehicle(s) / property, your current policy as well as lapsed and cancelled policies you might have had with us.
- j. Claims Data includes information about non-fault and fault claims you have made with us and other insurers. This includes data sent to us by third parties where we act as a controller.
- k. Telematics Data includes information collected on your location, mileage, speed related data, date/time, data that indicates commercial use, overnight parking, journey data and other driving characteristics as part of any policy that you purchase from us that requires you to have a telematics tracking device installed.
- l. Vulnerability Data includes information on any characteristics of vulnerability that you chose to share with us, which enables us to provide the appropriate level of support your circumstances dictate. This may include Health Data which is defined as Special Category data (see below).

We also limit the data retained on our systems in line with best practice. We collect, use and share Aggregated Data such as statistical or demographic data for any purpose. Aggregated Data may be derived from your personal data but is not considered personal data in law as this data does not directly or indirectly identify you.

We do not intentionally collect the following Special Categories of Personal Data about you (except where detailed below):

Details about your race or ethnicity, religious or philosophical beliefs, sexual orientation, political opinions, trade union membership and information about genetic and biometric data.

We do collect details about your vehicle, health and criminal convictions for the purposes of calculating the risk of providing you with insurance (and insuring the vehicle and/or your property). We may also collect health data when discussing any vulnerabilities you may have so that we can assist and support you. Finally, we may collect details about your health for the purposes of personal injury assessment when administering and handling claims.

Children's personal data

We may collect and process personal data of children for the purpose of administering and handling claims involving children under the age of 18. All correspondence in relation to a claim will be sent to the adult who has parental responsibility for the child or a litigation representative.

We may collect and process personal data of young drivers aged 17 years, for the purposes of obtaining insurance quotes and to administer insurance policies, from insurers in relation to our products designed for young drivers.

We acknowledge children have the same rights as adults over their personal data.

If you fail to provide personal data

Where we need to collect personal data by law, or under the terms of a contract we have with you, and you fail to provide that data when requested, we may not be able to perform the contract we have or are trying to enter into with you (for example, to provide you with goods or services). In this case, we may have to cancel a product or service you have with us, but we will notify you if this is the case at the time.

How is your personal data collected?

We use different methods to collect data from and about you including through:

- Direct interactions. You may give us your Identity, Contact and Financial Data by filling in forms or by corresponding with us by post, phone, email or otherwise.
- Automated technologies or interactions. As you interact with our website, we may automatically collect Technical Data about your equipment, browsing actions and patterns. We collect this personal data by using cookies, server logs and other similar technologies.
- Technical Data from use of the telematics tracking device (as further described in this notice).
- Third parties or publicly available sources. We may receive personal data about you from various third parties and public sources as set out below:
 - Insurance Brokers/Financial Advisors

 - Agents working on our behalf
 - Government and law enforcement agencies
 - Third parties that provide evidence in relation to claims
 - Your employer (Fleet Policies only)

We will only use your personal data when the law allows us to. Most commonly, we will use your personal data in the following circumstances:

- Where we need to perform the contract, we are about to enter into or have entered into with you.
- Where it is necessary for our legitimate interests (or those of a third party) and your interests and fundamental rights do not override those interests.
- Where we need to comply with a legal or regulatory obligation.

Generally, we do not rely on consent as a legal process for processing your personal data however if we do, you have the right to withdraw consent at any time by contacting us, using the email address above.

We may also collect your data when our policyholder nominates you to act on their behalf, or where you are identified as a named driver on one of our policies. If you are the policyholder, you must have the named driver’s permission to share their data.

Purposes for which we will use your personal data

We have set out below a description of all the ways we may use your personal data, and which of the legal bases we rely on to do so. We have also identified what our legitimate interests are where appropriate.

Note that we may process your personal data for more than one lawful ground depending on the specific purpose for which we are using your data. Please contact us if you need details about the specific legal grounds, we are relying on to process your personal data where more than one ground has been set out in the table below.

Please note we reserve the right under legitimate interests to share your data for the purposes of sale, transfer or merging of our group of companies.

- Fraud Prevention

Before and during the provision of services or goods to you, we undertake checks for the purposes of preventing fraud and money laundering, and to verify your identity. We and fraud prevention agencies may also enable law enforcement agencies to access and use your personal data to detect, investigate and prevent crime. We process your personal data on the basis that we have a legitimate interest in preventing fraud and money laundering, and to verify identity in order to protect our business and to comply with laws that apply to us. Such processing is also a contractual requirement of the services that you have requested. We conduct some of these checks using an AI system, as described in Section 4. If we, or a fraud prevention agency, determine that you pose a fraud or money laundering risk, we may refuse to provide the services you have requested, or we may stop providing existing services to you. A record of any fraud or money laundering risk will be retained by the fraud prevention agencies, and may result in others refusing to provide services, financing or employment to you.

- Telephone Calls

We may record telephone calls for training and monitoring purposes, to comply with regulatory obligations, to demonstrate services levels are being achieved or identify improvements, and to assist with the resolution of enquiries and complaints.

- Telematics tracking device

Where you purchase a policy from us that requires you to install a telematics tracking device in your vehicle, we will (at the time of usage) collect information on use of your vehicle and how it is driven, including: the speed of your vehicle, acceleration, braking, cornering, time of usage and mileage. The above information will be used to build a profile of how, where and when your vehicle is driven. We will use this information to identify extreme driving events which could result in an additional fee being charged to you or the cancellation of your policy. We will also monitor the data collected from the telematics tracking device to calculate your total mileage.

The GPS location data obtained from the telematics tracking device assists us in assessing the types of roads you use and may also help police recover your vehicle if it is stolen. We may release your data to the police or to a civil authority where we have a lawful basis for doing so, where we suspect fraud (or attempted fraud) or, if we are required to do so by law.

Where your policy is cancelled due to extreme driving, this information will be shared with other insurers and may lead third party insurance providers to refuse your application for motor insurance.

Your device is installed in your vehicle by you, or by our suppliers, HPC (Hyde Park Corner). They also maintain the device and monitor it for faults. Data from the tracking device is collected by our suppliers, IMS, Thing Co, Howdens or Trakm8, via a mobile data link.

IMS, Thing Co, Howden and Trakm8 may use certain data collected to improve their product and services. This will be carried out in an aggregated format using anonymisation techniques.

It is important that you read their Privacy Notices available on their websites to understand how your data will be processed. If you have any questions regarding the data collected by our partners as part of the services they provide to you and us, you can contact them via their websites as follows:

How we use your information to make automated decisions and predictions

We sometimes use AI systems to make automated decisions, predictions, or to answer your queries based on personal data we have – or can collect from others – about you or your business. This helps us to make sure our decisions are quick, fair, efficient, and correct, based on what we know. These automated decisions can affect the products, services or features we may offer you now or in the future, or the price that we charge you for them.

Here are the types of decision, prediction and task we use AI systems to assist with:

- Quotes and pricing
When you ask for a quote from us, we use AI systems to check the market to get the best price and product for you. This may include checking age, residency or financial position. Based on what we know, we use AI systems to generate prices for products and services. The prices generated are based on our internal pricing policy, which means the AI systems execute our internal decisions but do not make decision on their own.
- Detecting fraud
We use AI systems to predict if your insurance policy is being used for fraud or money laundering. The systems may detect that a policy is being used in ways that fraudsters work, or that a policy is being used in a way that is unusual for you. Where the AI system identifies potential fraud, a member of staff reviews the prediction to determine if further investigation is needed. If we think there is a risk of fraud, we may stop activity on your policy or cancel it.
- Determining liability
We use an AI system to predict which party is likely to be responsible for an incident. A member of staff always makes the final decision and communicates it to the relevant parties. You may dispute any decision made and submit evidence to support your appeal.

Our right to make automated decisions about you

Where we make automated decisions about you that have a legal, or similarly significant, effect, we only do so when the decision is necessary to enter into or perform a contract with you, or when a member of staff has reviewed the decision. If you want to know more about this, please contact us using the contact details in this notice.

How we use your information for profiling

We sometimes use information about you, such as age, residency type or financial situation, to make predictions about products you might be interested in. We also use this information to make decisions about what price to charge for our products and services. This is called 'profiling', a type of automated processing that uses your personal data to analyse you or make predictions about you. We use AI systems to carry out the profiling, as described in the section above.

Where we carry out profiling to predict how you might act when paying back any money you borrow, or what price to charge for our products, we need to do this to decide whether we can enter into a contract with you.

Cookies

Our website uses cookies to distinguish you from other users of our website. This helps us to provide you with a good experience when you browse our website and allows us to improve our website, products and services. For detailed information on the cookies we use and the purposes for which we use them please see paragraph (b) below.

We may use them for:

- a) Per-session cookies are used while you are logged on to our website to record temporary data relating to your visit to our website, to manage the delivery of web pages to; you and any registration and ordering processes, and to help us monitor traffic through the website; and
- b) Performance cookies that allow us to understand how visitors use our website.

If you do not want to use cookies, most internet browser programs have extensions that will allow you to block them. Should you do this you will still be able to access most of our website as normal but some processes that depend on cookies may not work properly. We also provide the choice as to which cookies to accept.

Disclosures of your personal data

- Purposes of disclosure and recipients

We do not share personal data with any third parties except as provided below or as required by law:

a) Motor Insurers Bureau (MIB)

Where you take out an insurance policy with us, information about your policy will be added to the Motor Insurance Database (MID). The MID is managed by the MIB and data which is stored on it may be used by certain statutory and /or authorised bodies (including the police, DVLA, DVLNI and the Insurance Fraud Bureau).

This information may be used for various purposes permitted by law, which include but are not limited to:

- ✓ Electronic Licensing
- ✓ Continuous insurance enforcement
- ✓ Law enforcement (prevention, detection, apprehension and/or prosecution of offenders)
- ✓ The provision of government services and/or other services aimed at reducing the level and incidence of uninsured driving.

If you are involved in a road traffic accident (either in the UK, the European Economic Area or certain other territories), insurers and/or the MIB may search the MID to obtain relevant information.

Persons (including his or her appointed representative) pursuing a claim in respect of a road traffic accident (including citizens of other countries) may also obtain relevant information which is held on the MID.

Information which is supplied to fraud prevention agencies and databases such as MID can include details such as your name, address and date of birth together with details of any injury arising from a claim. Your data may be supplied to an industry database in order to facilitate automatic no claim discount validation checks.

We may use the information supplied to fraud prevention agencies and industry databases such as the MID for fraud prevention purposes.

b) DVLA and Claims Management

We may share your driving licence number with the DVLA to confirm the status of your driving licence, entitlement and any information relating to restrictions/endorsements/convictions. We may carry out these searches before issuing you with an insurance policy and/or at any point during the term of your policy.

In the event of a claim, where necessary we may share your personal data with Claims Investigators, Engineers, Medical Assessors/Providers, Hire Vehicle Providers, Repairers, Solicitors, Reinsurers, Salvage Agents, Windscreen Repairers. We may need to disclose information with any other party involved in that claim such as third parties involved in the incident, their insurer, solicitor or representative and medical teams, the police or other investigators. We also may have to investigate your claims and conviction history. We may also have to share your personal data where necessary with the Compensation Recovery Unit, Department for Work and Pensions, and National Health Service in relation to a claim.

c) Payment processing

Your personal data may be processed by third parties who provide other processing services to us, and we may transfer personal data to third party payment processors in order to process payments for orders (such as credit and debit card processing companies). If we use a third-party order processing service, they will collect and send your data to us securely, which will then be incorporated into our databases.

d) Insurers / Brokers

As part of the quote process, we may exchange information with various industry databases to verify that you have provided all information required and that it is accurate such as the Claims and Underwriting Exchange (CUE), the Hunter Database, the Motor Insurance Anti-Fraud and Theft Register or the No Claims Discount Database. We may also carry out checks against the data we already hold on you such as data from existing products or account data. We may use this data to help assess and rate your application for a quote and determine your premiums.

We may also disclose your data to any Insurance Brokers operating on your behalf.

e) Third party service providers

In addition to the third parties we have already mentioned in this privacy notice, we may have your personal data processed by other third parties throughout the world who act for or on our behalf; for example, we may use cloud computing or remote database hosting services which may be located anywhere in the world and we may engage contractors anywhere in the world for the purposes of providing back-office services to us, including website hosting, order processing, order fulfilment, application and database hosting and data processing services. We also engage contractors to provide vehicle recovery and repair services. Where necessary, we provide these contractors with information on support needs you have disclosed to us. We only do this if we believe our contractor needs to know your support needs to be able to provide the vehicle recovery or repair service you require. These companies will process and hold information about you in order to perform their functions. These companies are not authorised to use the information they process for us for any other purpose than those to which we have notified you under this privacy notice. Please see 'International Transfers' in section 6.

f) Group companies

For operational efficiency and to ensure you are provided with the best possible service, certain services and operational activities may be carried out on our behalf by other companies in our Group. We ensure strict measures are in place between the companies in our Group to ensure your personal data is processed in accordance with this privacy notice.

g) Taxi Operators

We may share certain personal data to verify the status/terms of your motor insurance policy ("insurance verification") with your designated taxi operator. We do this to assist you in verifying your insurance documents, and, to support the operator in ensuring their drivers maintain the required insurance in accordance with regulatory requirements. Your taxi operator will have communicated with you about your participation in such verification service if this arrangement is in place. Your operator will not be authorised to use the information for any other purpose.

h) Legal requirements and regulators

We may share or transfer your personal data to a government authority where required to comply with a legal requirement, for the administration of justice, or where reasonably required to protect you or your company's vital interests.

We may share your personal data with the Financial Ombudsman Service, if you make a complaint about the service we have provided. We may also share your data with other industry regulators who monitor and enforce our compliance with any applicable regulations.

i) Corporate Transfer

We may transfer your personal data to any company that purchases or otherwise acquires our business in the event of a corporate sale, merger, reorganisation, dissolution or similar event.

j) Statistics

We may use your personal data along with other data to provide statistics on an anonymous basis to our contractors, marketing partners (including banks and other institutions who may promote our products to their customers), and other companies and organisations we deal with, for a range of purposes, including assessing and reporting on the overall performance of our products and website, assessing and reporting on overall product take-up and usage, assessment and reporting on malware and unsafe websites and associated threats and risks in general for any group of customers.

k) Aggregators

Where we receive your data from an aggregator (such as a Price Comparison website), and if you become a customer, our contractual obligation requires us to share some customer data with that aggregator, for quality assurance purposes. Please consult the aggregators' Privacy Notices to understand how they manage your data.

l) General Suppliers

We have partners providing risk management, validation and telematics services, and we share your data with them in order to provide you with services or a quote. We use a company called Lexis Nexis to provide some of these services and their privacy notice can be found here – <https://risk.lexisnexis.co.uk/processing-notices/insurance-services>

We also offer optional add-ons for your Insurance Policy, and we share your data in order for them to be able to provide these services. With these suppliers they act as data controller for your data which means they determine the means and purpose for processing your data.

Change of purpose

We will only use your personal data for the purposes for which we collected it, unless we reasonably consider that we need to use it for another reason and that reason is compatible with the original purpose. If you wish to get an explanation as to how the processing for the new purpose is compatible with the original purpose, please contact us.

If we need to use your personal data for an unrelated purpose, we will notify you and we will explain the legal basis which allows us to do so.

Please note that we may process your personal data without your knowledge or consent, in compliance with the above rules, where this is required or permitted by law.

International Transfers

Where we transfer personal data outside the UK or European Economic Area (EEA), we will work with our service providers and partners to ensure appropriate safeguards are in place to protect your personal data and your privacy rights, meeting the standards required to make such a transfer lawful.

Information security

We have put in place appropriate security measures to prevent your personal data from being accidentally lost, used or accessed in an unauthorised way, altered or disclosed. In addition, we limit access to your personal data to those employees, agents, contractors and other third parties who have a business need to know. They will only process your personal data on our instructions, and they are subject to a duty of confidentiality.

We have put in place procedures to deal with any suspected personal data breach and will notify you and any applicable regulator of a breach where we are legally required to do so.

Data retention

We will only retain your personal data for as long as necessary to fulfil the purposes we collected it for, including for the purposes of satisfying any legal, accounting, or reporting requirements.

To determine the appropriate retention period for personal data, we consider the amount, nature, and sensitivity of the personal data, the potential risk of harm from unauthorised use or disclosure of your personal data, the purposes for which we process your personal data and whether we can achieve those purposes through other means, and the applicable legal requirements.

By law we are required to keep basic information about our customers (including Contact, Identity, Financial and Transaction Data) for the term of their policy and for a period of seven years after they cease being customers.

In some circumstances you can ask us to delete your data. In some circumstances we may anonymise your personal data (so that it can no longer be associated with you) for research or statistical purposes in which case we may use this information indefinitely without further notice to you.

Glossary

Customer means any person (including individuals, firms and companies and other organisations) who is a customer of Haven Insurance, including persons who browse or otherwise use our website, or who purchase our products.

Legitimate Interest means the interest of our business in conducting and managing our business to enable us to give you the best service/product and the best and most secure experience. We make sure we consider and balance any potential impact on you (both positive and negative) and your rights before we process your personal data for our legitimate interests. We do not use your personal data for activities where our interests are overridden by the impact on you (unless we have your consent or are otherwise required or permitted to by law). You can obtain further information about how we assess our legitimate interests against any potential impact on you in respect of specific activities by contacting us.

Performance of Contract means processing your data where it is necessary for the performance of a contract to which you are a party or to take steps at your request before entering into such a contract.

Comply with a legal or regulatory obligation means processing your personal data where it is necessary for compliance with a legal or regulatory obligation that we are subject to.

Your legal rights

You have the right to:

- a) Request access to your personal data (commonly known as a “subject access request”). This enables you to receive a copy of the personal data we hold about you and to check that we are lawfully processing it.
- b) Request correction of the personal data that we hold about you. This enables you to have any incomplete or inaccurate data we hold about you corrected, though we may need to verify the accuracy of the new data you provide to us.
- c) Request erasure of your personal data. This enables you to ask us to delete or remove personal data where there is no good reason for us continuing to process it. You also have the right to ask us to delete or remove your personal data where you have successfully exercised your right to object to processing (see below) where we may have processed your information unlawfully or where we are required to erase your personal data to comply with local law. Note, however, that we may not always be able to comply with your request of erasure for specific legal reasons which will be notified to you, if applicable, at the time of your request.
- d) Object to processing of your personal data where we are relying on a legitimate interest (or those of a third party) and there is something about your particular situation which makes you want to object to processing on this ground as you feel it impacts on your fundamental rights and freedoms. In some cases, we may demonstrate that we have compelling legitimate grounds to process your information which override your rights and freedoms.
- e) Request restriction of processing of your personal data. This enables you to ask us to suspend the processing of your personal data in the following scenarios: (a) if you want us to establish the data’s accuracy; (b) where our use of the data is unlawful but you do not want us to erase it; (c) where you need us to hold the data even if we no longer require it as you need it to establish, exercise or defend legal claims; or (d) you have objected to our use of your data but we need to verify whether we have overriding legitimate grounds to use it.
- f) Request the transfer of your personal data to you or a third party. We will provide to you, or a third party you have chosen, your personal data in a structured, commonly used, machine-readable format. Note that this right only applies to automated information which you initially provided consent for us to use or where we used the information to perform a contract with you.
- g) Withdraw consent at any time where we are relying on consent to process your personal data. However, this will not affect the lawfulness of any processing carried out before you withdraw your consent. If you withdraw your consent, we may not be able to provide certain products or services to you. We will advise you if this is the case at the time you withdraw your consent.
- h) Right not to be subject to automatic decision making where we are using your data using solely automated means that has legal or similarly significant effects. Please see section 4 of this Privacy Notice for instructions on how to exercise your rights.
- i) Right to be informed about the collection and use of your data. This Privacy Notice provides a comprehensive guide to how we use your data, if you have any questions not answered here, please do not hesitate to contact us using the contact details in section 1.

- No fee usually required

You will not have to pay a fee to access your personal data (or to exercise any of the other rights). However, we may charge a reasonable fee if your request is clearly unfounded, repetitive or excessive. Alternatively, we may refuse to comply with your request in these circumstances.

- What we may need from you

We may need to request specific information from you to help us confirm your identity and ensure your right to access your personal data (or to exercise any of your other rights). This is a security measure to ensure that personal data is not disclosed to any person who has no right to receive it. We may also contact you to ask you for further information in relation to your request to speed up our response.

- Time limit to respond

We try to respond to all legitimate requests within one month. Occasionally it may take us longer than a month if your request is particularly complex or you have made a number of requests. In this case, we will notify you and keep you updated.

You have the right to make a formal complaint about how we handle your personal data at any time to the Gibraltar Regulatory Authority (GRA), the Gibraltar supervisory authority for data protection issues. We would, however, appreciate the chance to deal with your concerns before you approach the GRA so please contact us in the first instance.

It is important that the personal data we hold about you is accurate and current. Please keep us informed if your personal data changes during your relationship with us.

We may amend this privacy at any time.
